Chief Justice DuPont's Address to the People of Florida.

We give below the high-toned, bold, and yet very discreet address which has just been issued to the terribly abused people of Fla. by Chief Justice DuPont. It is worth a careful perusal by the citizens of every State in the Union, but especially by those of the South, now under the heel of the Mongrel despots. The outraged people there will take fresh courage, and become infused with new hope when reading this address. Such wise counsel cannot fail to bring forth good fruits:

Fellow-Citizens: By your voluntary and unsolfcifed suffrage, I was elected in 1853, for the term of six years, one of the Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of the State. At the expiration of my term of office, you promoted me to the position of Chief Justice for a like term of years; and under your amended Constitution of 1865, which gave to the Governor the power of appointment, I was continued in the same position, by and with the unanimous approval of the Senate. These several ordersements of my official course are truly grateful to my feelings, and call for a tender of my most heartfelt and sincere acknowledgment. The commission which I now hold, authorizes me to exercise the functions and discharge the duties of Chief Justice until the 1st day of January, 1872. You are, however, aware that the administration of your State Government has been forcibly wrested from you and committed to the hands of the stranger. The man of your choice, long identified with you in interest and sentiment, who but recently directed the ship of state, is no longer at the *helm-his place is now occupied by another. This change was accomplished by force of an order cmanating from the Headquarters of this Military District. The same order which bereft you of your Executive head, (and which I have only seen by accident), requires that all civil officers of the State, "shall promptly yield their offices, and turn over to their properly elected and qualified successors all publie property, archives, books, records, de., belonging to the same." For myself, as Chief Justico of the Surpreme Court of the State of Florida, I recognize no "properly elected and qualified successor," and even if I did, I have nothing to "yield" or "turn over," save the right to that office, attested by the Commission which I hold, bearing the broad seal of a once sovereign State. That right I cannot and will not "yield" but at your behest. Circumstanced, however, as I am, deprived of the aid of the Executive to sus.

tain the Judicial Department in the exercise of its legitimate function, and opposed by the entire legislative and military authority of the United States, I have no other alternative than to announce to you a suspension of the exercise of the functions of my office as Chief Justice, until such time as the same may be resumed without endangering the peace and good order of society.

I have made this announcement, fellow citizens, lest my silence should be construed into a "surrender' or abandonment of a sacred trust, committed to my keeping by the people of Florida; and I should be false to you, false to myself, and false to the principles of free government-were I to omit upon this occasion to enter a solemn protest against the legality of the several acts of the Congress of the United States, under and by vulue of which the said military order was issued.

In closing this announcement, I claim the privilege of one who has spent his entire manhood in your midst, (covering a period of over forty years), to tender you, a word of friendly advice. In the first place, I counsel you to yield, not for one moment, to the demoralizing influence of gloom or despondency, the instincts of the coward, but patiently endure the wrongs which now oppress you, with that firm resolve, that unconquerable will, that heroic fortitude, which becomes the brave, looking for deliverance to Hin, who in consummating some great moral problem, not unfrequently makes use of the wicked as instruments of His power.

I counsel you, in the second place, to reallize the fact, that the "war of sections" is at an end, and that the great majority of those with whom you were recently engaged in deadly conflict, sincerely desire the speedy restoration of that friendly relation and brotherly love which formerly characterized the inter course between the two sections of the Union To those, therefore, of your fellow citizens, whether of the North, East or West, who may visit our State, either for recreation or with the design to identity themselves as citizens. extend the right hand of fellowship-meet them with the cordiality of restored friend-ship—cause them to feel that they are welcom ed visitors, and to realize that the passions engendered by war have yielded and given place to the gentler influences of peace. But against those who come as the willing instruments of an infamons and heartless tyranuy, unparalleled in the annals of the age, set your faces like flint-make them to feel, and sensibly realize, that they are unwelcomed intruders; let there be no room for mistake or misapprehension on that point. Sycophancy, insincerity or dissimulation constitute no part of Southern character.

Finally, fellow-citizens, I counsel you to be of good cheer, and cheerfully and zealously to apply your every energy to the restoration of our beautiful and lovely land to the prosperity which it once enjoyed. Be assured that the day of your deliverance draweth near, for even now the voice of the nation is concentrating, and will soon proclaim in thunder tones your emancipation from foreign rule, and the restoration of that priceless boon-the right of self-government! The people of the United States have been too well schooled in the principles of free government to tolerate military or civil, whether that civil despotism be the despotism of an individual or that of an irresponsible legislative majority!

I furthermore counsel you, by the duty which you owe to yourselves, to your families, to your country, and to the cause of humanity, to lend your every influence to the preservation of the peace and good order irrespective of communities. Be very cautious to avoid any conflict with the powers that be, and be content to sleave them to the silent operation of the "logic of coming events," careful, however, in the interval, that you "bow not the neck lower than the yoke."

Your fellow-citizen, CHAS. H. DUPONT. Chief Justice of the Suprem Court.
